

Society Folk To Hear Talk By Pollock

Author to Appear at Art Institute Tuesday.

The Milwaukee Art institute will be the scene of the gathering of fashionable Milwaukee Tuesday evening, when Channing Pollock, author of more than a score of successful plays, comes to lecture on "The Modern Drama."

Following the lecture, which undoubtedly will pack the institute's small, informal auditorium, coffee will be served in the gallery, and the playwright will meet and chat with his audience.

Mrs. Douglass Van Dyke, chairman of the entertainment committee, will be assisted in receiving the guests at the informal reception by the trustees of the institute and their wives, including:

Of interest also to those to whom the arts especially appeal is the buffet supper which Mr. and Mrs. Herman Uihlein gave in their home on N. Lake drive Sunday evening for Miss Elsa Alsen, the soloist who appeared with the Philharmonic orchestra at its concert that afternoon. Miss Alsen spent the weekend with the Uihleins. Guests at the buffet supper included a great many of those directly interested in the Philharmonic orchestra through the Society of Allied Arts, which is backing it.
